Black Diamond Publishing Releases Self-Empowerment Focused Children's Book

A new children's book from Black Diamond Publishing centers on fun, positive characters who are inspired to achieve their dreams.

*July 16, 2022 – Black Diamond Publishing, a publisher of educational non-fiction and entertaining children's books, has announced the release of That Can Be Me. The children's book is targeted for children aged 4-8 years and will be released July 16, 2022.*

*The new book aims to build self-confidence and encourage children that there are no limits to how far they can go. This book allows children to think about and explore positive traits and characteristics, as well as potential career opportunities. The book is centered on the power of belief and inspires children dream beyond their wildest imagination, and think, That Can Be Me.*

The book serves as a valuable resource for both children and adults. Included at the end of the book are positive prompts that can be used by parents and educators to build and strengthen children's self-esteem. Also included, are positive, self-affirming phrases for children to repeat to feel confident, resilient, and empowered.

The book has been authored and published by Erika J. Gibson, a native of Little Rock, AR. Owner of Black Diamond Publishing, Erika holds a Master of Education degree in School Psychology from Howard University. The new book caters to readers who want to feel confident, inspired, and empowered.

*"All children should have access to books that are uplifting, encouraging, and aspirational," said Gibson. For more information on That Can Be Me, go to www.erikajgibson.com*
